GOOD NIGHT TECH RIGHT

With the increasing censorship of Left wing and sympathetic publications by the state and private entities with a monopoly on online media, the new Trump administration having taken many of these private entities under its wing, and the MAGA camp's proclivity for attempting rewrite not only history, but the events we see with our very eyes, the following sources have been archived for posterity and in an effort to combat both this censorship and this war on reality, as the signs show they will only increase. Memory is too a precious thing. May we remember the hard-learned lessons of the past so that they may inform how we confront the future. With love and solidarity, long live anarchy.
